Reference is made to the weekly teletype summaries, captioned as above, submitted by each field office relating to the whereabouts of subjects being considered for prosecution under the Smith Act.

A review of the teletype summaries dated April 16, 1952, reflects that twenty-five of the offices receiving copies of this letter have one or more Smith Act subjects whose whereabouts are unknown.

As you are aware, the Bureau should be advised by the submission of Form FD-122 whenever it is determined that the whereabouts of a Smith Act subject is not known. A notation to this effect is added to the Security Index cards on file in the field pending receipt of new cards from the Bureau and the case is placed in a pending status. You have previously been instructed to afford these cases continuous and intensive investigation in order to locate the missing subjects as quickly as possible.

The following additional instructions are to be placed into immediate effect with regard to missing Smith Act subjects. As long as the whereabouts of such a subject remains undetermined, the office of origin must submit an investigative report to the Bureau every forty-five days. In the event the report merely reflects the results of investigation conducted to locate the missing subject, only two copies need be submitted to the Bureau. If your investigation reflects information concerning the background or activities of the subject, five copies of the report should be furnished to the Bureau. Such data should be set out in the body of the report, while information dealing purely with efforts to locate the subject should be reported on administrative pages which will be removed from the report prior to dissemination.

If the missing subject is located before the expiration of any forty-five day period, the Bureau should be advised of the subject's current address and employment, and a report submitted at that time. Thereafter, if there is no additional investigation to be conducted, the case may be placed in a pending inactive status and reports submitted every three months if the subject is a top functionary and every six months if the subject is a key figure. If the subject is located in the territory of another field division, the office of origin should consider requesting Bureau authority to designate the office where the subject was located as the new office of origin.

It is realized that some offices have submitted investigative reports on their missing Smith Act subjects within the last forty-five days. If such is the case, the next report will be due at the Bureau forty-five days from the date of the last report. In the event an investigative report has not been submitted within the past forty-five days, a report is to be submitted to reach the Bureau not later than June 1, 1952. Additional forty-five day reports must be submitted until such time as the subject is located.

In addition, when a Smith Act subject has been missing for a period of six months the Baltimore Office should be requested to cause a check to be made by Confidential Source BA-4. This lead should be set out by letter to Baltimore and should include the following information concerning the subject: name and aliases, date of birth and/or Social Security number, last known address, last known employment and the date on which the whereabouts of the subject was last known. The reason for the six months' delay in setting out this lead is that the records of BA-4 are approximately six months delinquent. If the subject has not been located at the expiration of an additional six months the Baltimore Office should be requested by the office of origin to recheck the records of BA-4.

Sufficient copies of this letter are being furnished to allow each office to place one copy in the Communist Party, USA - Brief file and one copy in the file of each Smith Act subject. At the present time, exclusive of the subjects who have been indicted or are in a fugitive status, there are 151 Smith Act subjects throughout the field.

The instructions set out in this letter are to be strictly complied with by each field office involved.
